

CLOSING DAYS OF CONGRESS

THE SUNDAY CIVIL BILL PASSED IN THE SENATE.

All of the Amendments Made in Committee Adopted, Including That for the Purchase of the Blaine Property and the $5,000,000 Amendment for the Payment of the Sugar Bounty—The Legislative Bill Passed Through Last Evening—The House Further Insists on Its Vote Against the Hawaiian Cable Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The Sunday Civil Appropriation bill was passed by the Senate today, its consideration having occupied the larger share of the day's work. All of the amendments that were adopted by the Senate. The whole were concurred in after the bill was reported back to the Senate, almost all of them in bulk. There was an effort made by Mr. Vest (Dem., Mo.) to have the amendment for the purchase of the Blaine property, on Lafayette place, Washington, modified so as to require "a simple title" to the property, but the motion was not taken to the Senate, almost all of them in bulk. There was an effort made by Mr. Vest (Dem., Mo.) to have the amendment for the purchase of the Blaine property, on Lafayette place, Washington, modified so as to require "a simple title" to the property, but the motion was not taken to the Senate, almost all of them in bulk.

An effort was made by Mr. Stewart (Pop., Nev.) to have Mr. Wolcott's amendment for the appointment of delegates to an international conference modified so as to prohibit the conference from agreeing to any higher tariff between gold and silver, but the motion was not taken to the Senate, almost all of them in bulk. There was an effort made by Mr. Vest (Dem., Mo.) to have the amendment for the purchase of the Blaine property, on Lafayette place, Washington, modified so as to require "a simple title" to the property, but the motion was not taken to the Senate, almost all of them in bulk.

An amendment appropriating $300,000 for seed to be distributed to the people inhabiting the arid region whose crops were destroyed by drought last summer was offered by Mr. Pettigrew (Rep., S. D.) and after a short discussion was agreed to—yeas, 33; nays, 17.

The amendment ordered last evening by Mr. Bates (Dem., Tenn.) appropriating $120,000 for the exposition at Nashville, Tenn., in commemoration of the hundredth year of its Statehood, was taken up. While Mr. Harris (Dem., Tenn.) was supporting the amendment he was asked by Mr. Hoar (Rep., Mass.) to explain the constitutional ground on which he stood.

"If the Senator from Massachusetts," Mr. Harris replied testily, "will meet me here on the 4th of July next I will read to him a lecture on constitutional limitations which, if he will regard it, will be of infinite value to him for the rest of his political life." [Laughter.]

"These things," Mr. Hoar retorted with a smile, "are very much to be desired, but I am not a member of another body who says, 'What is a little thing like the Constitution amendment?' The amendment was declared to be in order—yeas, 35; nays, 15. The bill will be reported to a conference committee.

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the bill for the relief of Catherine Ott, a widow of a soldier, and to which very few amendments were reported from the committee on Appropriations. The bill was passed by yeas, 35; nays, 15.

FOR OUR MERCHANT MARINE.

Important Legislation Passed by the Fifty-third Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The legislation of the short session of Congress for the merchant marine was virtually concluded to-day by the passage of the Free Ship bill in the House, unless the House Rules Committee shall withhold it from the floor. The bill, which has hitherto been in the face of the recommendations of President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle. The new act of the session provides, among other things, for the abolition of registry and license bonds, of which 20,400 were issued last year. The bonds, which have been required annually since 1792, have for years been a source of trouble to ship owners and masters of American vessels, requiring unnecessary clerical work and fees in Custom Houses, and entailing other expenses. The annual saving to the Government and shipping interests effected by the new act is more than the annual cost of the Navigation Bureau.

The new act also brings our law into accord with the practice of other nations, and foreign maritime powers and reduces navigation charges at home and abroad, based on net tonnage. It will enable the St. Louis summer to compete with foreign transatlantic liners on even terms, so far as these matters are concerned.

Another act enables American vessels also to be measured at home, when desirable, according to methods in use in other nations, and thus makes it possible for American vessels in foreign trade to obtain all the advantages in this respect which foreign nations may undertake to give their vessels by future improvement in measurement laws.

The powers of the Secretary of the Treasury to suspend and prohibit the export of gold and silver are extended. This act is especially important in view of the fact that the power to suspend the export of gold and silver is a power of great importance in times of war or of other emergency.

The uncertainty under which admiralty courts have labored for years as to the application of the laws of the United States to the navigation of the harbors has been removed by an act empowering the Secretary of the Treasury to define the laws which shall apply to the navigation of the harbors and to the navigation of the harbors.

Special acts have been passed admitting the steamship company of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, and the steamship company of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, and the steamship company of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company.

TWO MORE APPROPRIATION BILLS SET TO PASS THE SENATE.

A Contest Expected Over the Naval Bill—Insurrections Made in the House Against the Senate's Action on the Purchase of the Blaine Property—The Status of Gen. Grant Reported by the Joint Library Committee.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—There is only one of the big annual appropriation bills still in committee in the Senate, but this one is apt to cause more trouble than all the others. The Legislative, Executive, and Judicial bill, that was taken up by the Senate this afternoon, contains the very important features, and none of them are expected to be passed by the Senate.

The Naval bill, however, will be a bone of contention, and the recommendations of the committee to provide for only two battle ships instead of three, as voted by the House, will undoubtedly be vigorously opposed on the floor of the Senate, as well as in conference. The only amendment of the Senate committee to the General Deficiency bill on which there will be a disagreement between the two Houses is the one striking out the provision for extra pay to the clerks of Representatives. Under the system in vogue of paying to the members themselves the money expended for their clerks, they are the persons who would really be benefited by the provision for the month's extra pay to the clerks of Representatives.

The House committee on the Naval bill has recommended that the bill be amended so as to provide for only two battle ships instead of three, as voted by the House. olded that the statue was not a correct representation of Gen. Grant, and that its facial resemblance to the great leader of the Federal army was so imperfect that it would be better to have a statue of a man who was not a general. The statue, which was erected in the main hall of the Capitol building, and the intention of the committee to have it removed, was the decision of the committee not to accept it. The committee acted with great deliberation, and after a number of public men who enjoyed for years a personal acquaintance with Gen. Grant, as well as others who had served under him, had been consulted, the committee was of opinion that the statue was not a correct representation of Gen. Grant, and that its facial resemblance to the great leader of the Federal army was so imperfect that it would be better to have a statue of a man who was not a general.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

THE TOPIC OF DISCUSSION IN THE WOMEN'S CONGRESS.

Divorce Considered in All Its Aspects.

Chiefly by Unmarried Women—Susan B. Anthony Tells of How She Helped a Woman to Get Free Forty Years Ago, and Says that Since Then She Has Helped Others to Freedom—Kate Field Thinks Marriages Ought to be Made More Difficult.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The popularity of dress and marriage as topics for women's discussion is established. Yesterday, when dress was discussed by the Women's National Council, Metcalf's Hall was crowded to the doors. Today, when marriage and divorce were under consideration, the attendance, while not so great as yesterday, was larger than on any other day. Divorce in all its aspects was considered. The discussion was introduced by the presentation of the report of the Committee on Divorce Reform, one of the standing committees of the council. The report was read by Mrs. Anthony, the president of the council.
